The NZ MASTER CLASS

This Master Class will focus on the approaches taken in the UK to address individual choice of preferences and wishes as the end of their life nears. The UK End of Life Care (EOLC) Strategy aims to provide choice, reduce hospital stays and avert admissions. Advance Care Planning is a key factor in the End of Life Care Strategy and the Master Class will give participants an opportunity to understand one of the tools being used, i.e. Preferred Priorities for Care. The key components of the UK EOLC strategy will be explained including the tools utilised (Preferred Priorities for Care, Gold Standards Framework and Liverpool Care Pathway) and the benefits that have been derived for individuals, their families and health and social care providers. Participants will also gain insights into the UK approach to individual choice and how it has benefitted individuals with a wide range of conditions including renal failure, COPD, Motor Neurone Disease, Cancers as well as frailty and dementia.

Delegates will also consider:

how the UK approach aligns with national developments in NZ and the commonalities between the UK and NZ approach

key learnings from the UK which is many years down the track eg embedding developments into national policies and frameworks

Public awareness work eg work with people with learning disabilities and 'Dying Matters'

The roll out of PPC at a practical level – the need for champions ACP facilitators/practitioners in promoting ACP.

Communication training. What makes the biggest difference

About LES STOREY

Les Storey qualified in 1970 and spent over 14 years in clinical practice before moving into the fields of education and research. Since 1989 he has been involved both nationally and internationally in the development and implementation of competency based approaches within nursing and healthcare.

His recent work includes:

- Leading the work to develop the Preferred Place of Care, (now Preferred Priorities for Care) an Advance Care Planning process for recording patient preferences about care at the end of life
- Mapping the competences needed by staff working in a range of care areas including:
  - ⇒ prison healthcare staff
  - ⇒ palliative care for community nurses & allied health professionals
  - ⇒ -assessing and managing dysphagia

- Researching nursing in secure environments across the UK both within the Prison Service and secure mental health care
- Developing National Occupational Standards for the assessment and management of dysphagia
- Evaluating capacity and caseload management in substance misuse services

He is the National Lead for the National End of Life Care Initiative (Preferred Priorities for Care), Former RCN Council Member & Chair of the North West Board of the RCN and a Member of the National Council for Palliative Care Policy Group.

In 2000 he was conferred as a Fellow of the Royal College of Nursing for his work on competency based education, and in 2001 was awarded the Edith Cavell scholarship by the Florence Nightingale Foundation. In 2007 he was awarded Fellowship of the Higher Education Academy.
